

HOW I WORK WITH YOU AND YOUR ANIMAL PARTNER IN FORM OR IN SPIRIT

I connect telepathically with your animal partners - in form or in spirit - to create stronger bonds of understanding, solve problems, clarify life lessons, create closure when needed and provide support in trusting your own intuitive abilities to understand your animals more deeply. Here is a description of how we work together:

1. I always like to speak with you first, so we schedule a free 30-minute phone chat to honor your bond with your pet partner. This is your time to share what's on your mind, explain details of your relationship with your animal partner(s), their previous experiences you know of, etc. You'll have the opportunity to share your questions and concerns and what you'd like me to focus on (although your non-humans will have their own agenda as well!)
2. You would then email me the most recent head shot of your pet; a full body photo is ok too, as long as there is a clear picture of their head and eyes.
3. If your pet is in physical form, you would then ask them (yes, verbally) for permission for me to connect with them. (Please make sure you do this when you are in a calm, quiet place without distractions or interruptions).

Phrasing your question this way works quite well: “Max, is it alright for my friend Sandra to tune into you? Please feel free to share with her anything you want me to know.” This way, you’re giving your pet the most freedom to bring up what is most important to them. (and this can sometimes be very different from what we believe or expect!)

4. Next, please email me a description of how your pet reacted to the question even the slightest body movement, expression, etc. While 99.8% of the animal partners I’ve connected with have been very willing to communicate, once in a very great while, one will choose not to do so. If your animal partner responds to your request by clearly walking away or showing any negative behavior- including an alarmed or annoyed look in their eyes or pinned ears—that's your "no" and we need to respect their wishes.

5. If your animal partner is in spirit, simply set the intention that the transmission is for the highest and best outcome for all.
6. Because we can be so connected with our pet's energy field, I work alone connecting with your pet on a remote basis. This way, I don't pick up human energy, emotion and intention and keep the transmission as pure as possible. Additionally, if your pet feels your fears / worries/ frustration about them, they may hold back or filter what they share.
7. You submit payment and then I tune into your pet; the session takes however long is necessary to allow your pet time to feel “complete”. I then email you the transcript of the session via email. If you have questions or comments at that point, by all means email me at sandra@smendelson.com.
